In letters to LimeWire and Streamcast, developers of popular "peer-to-peer" file sharing programs, Chairman Waxman and Ranking Member Davis requested information about potential privacy and security risks. Despite a voluntary pledge by several peer-to-peer companies to prevent the use of features that cause inadvertent file sharing, recent developments suggest that inadvertent file-sharing may still be a significant problem.   Documents and Links

- Letter to LimeWire
- Letter to StreamCast
- OIR Report
- 2003 Government Reform Committee Report